

Buy a Bronze to Benefit Homeless Pets in New Mexico

Animal Humane is New Mexico's oldest and largest private animal welfare agency offering shelter and adoption services to thousands of homeless pets annually. They provide quality, low-cost spay/neuter services and critical/emergency medical care to low-income pet owners as well as a behavioral hotline, canine training classes and monthly vaccination clinics to the general public. Please see the enclosed brochure and annual report for full details.

The bronze shown below will be auctioned off at Animal Humane's Art for the Animals benefit taking place on August 1, 2009. This artwork was generously donated by Britton James Zabka of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Mr. Zabka is a sculptor, painter and scientist – his work has been exhibited worldwide. He pioneered holographic processes and holds multiple patents for holographic technology. Mr. Zabka is in negotiations with the federal government so that future driver's licenses and passports may include holographic photographs, providing the highest level of security. Artist details and additional images of the bronze are provided on the enclosed disk.
